DID YOU SAY
JAMAICA RUM?

BY ALL MEANS!

The victories at sea, the coronations of a dozen queens and kings—all the great events that marched in Britain's cavalcade of years—have been toasted in JAMAICA rum. Today the connoisseur—choosing "light" for cocktails and highballs and "dark" for punches and noggs—specifies JAMAICA even more emphatically than ever. Yet their costs are lower than those of comparably fine imported whiskies and brandies.

Try Jamaica's "Favorite Five"

JAMAICA HIGHBALL

One of the most popular and refreshing Rum drinks. Pour a dash of Jamaica Rum over a few cubes of ice and add a splash of Dry Ginger Ale. Also delightful when mixed with Soda.

JAMAICA COCKTAIL

One half cocktail glass of Jamaica Rum and an equal measure of sweet Vermouth; add plenty of cracked ice, stir well and enjoy a new and fascinating Jamaica Rum Cocktail.

JAMAICA PUNCH

One part lime juice; two parts sugar or syrup; three parts Jamaica Rum; four parts water (in warm climate three parts water and lots of cracked ice). Shake well. Serve immediately.

JAMAICA NOG

Mix one part sweetened condensed milk with an equal portion of Jamaica Rum; shake well with cracked ice, serve with a cherry and you have a most delicious short drink.

JAMAICA COLLINS

Mix one part of lime juice, two parts of sugar or syrup, four parts of Jamaica Rum and an equal measure of Soda Water. Add cracked ice, stir briskly, drink through a straw.

Popular member of the social colony, painted by Kyril Vassilev, famous Court Artist to three reigning Kings, who has also painted many Continental and American notables.

Cottage Colony Society Life

THIS SEASON FINDS THE PALM BEACH colony with a definitely Continental atmosphere added to the leisurely graceful mode of living that sets this resort apart from any of the other smart gathering spots. With the influx of many Europe's social luminaries and the overwhelmingly preponderant interest in foreign affairs, the resort is a composite picture of the social life of London, Paris and the Riviera.

Everything in the resort seems to revolve around the numerous benefit affairs for British Relief and the various civic drives being put on locally. Many of the attractive house parties on the island find the guests and hostess knitting for Bundles for Britain or planning a benefit of some sort for this popular cause.

Among the many distinguished visitors from over-seas is Mr. Frederick Lonsdale, noted English author, who is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams at their North County Road villa. Miss Louise Iselin is another member of the Harrison Williams house-party. The author of "The Last of Mrs. Cheney" and other outstanding books, has been the honor guests at many interesting parties, held at their lovely ocean front home.

Mrs. Williams is taking an active part in the many civic and humanitarian drives in Palm Beach this season. She headed the recently successful Greek Relief Ball, held at the Patio and with Mrs. Nicolas Embiricos staged a very successful cocktail party for Greek Relief at the Alibi.

Mr. A. Atwater Kent is among the late arrivals in Palm Beach this season. "The Towers," his Ocean Front home has been the setting for several interesting parties, since his arrival from Philadelphia. Mr. Kent is among Palm Beach's aviation enthusiasts and is a steady traveler on the nation's air lines.

Prince de Bourbon, one of the most popular of the International set, dropped in for a brief stay with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney at their North Ocean Boulevard villa. Countess de Narkiewicz Jodko, mother of Mrs. Sidney, is another member of their house-party.

The Arch-Duke and Arch-Duchess, Franz Josef of Austria are among the recent additions to the Sidney house-party.

Colonel and Mrs. LeRay Berdeau have been hosts to a number of attractive cocktail and dinner gatherings at their beautiful home on Via Bellaria. Guests at a recent luncheon party at the Berdeaus were Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Norton, founders of the recently completed Norton Art Gallery, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Scott, Mr. Lemuel O. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Manship. Mr. Manship, incidentally, is the creator of the beautiful statues and relief panels of the newly dedicated Norton Art Galleries.

"Sandrift," the Breakers cottage of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont, was the background for a dinner party recently, with their ocean front home beautifully decorated for the occasion. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pierrepont included Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Geddes, Mr. and Mrs. George Taft, Mrs. Royal Victor, Mrs. Edgar Bryan, Mr. George Clarke and Mr. Findley Douglas.

Two of Palm Beach's most consistent hosts are Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder of London, who have taken "Lakeridge," the Albert Worswick home on South Ocean Boulevard for the season. They recently entertained at a series of luncheon and dinner parties, most of them held in the beautiful patio of "Lakeridge" facing the waters of Lake Worth and the tropical growth along the shore line.

The always anticipated Garden Tours were especially interesting this season in Palm Beach, with the series of tours for the benefit of the British War Relief for mobile units. Buses left the Brazilian Court Hotel and deposited their customers at the various lovely gardens in the resort.

Five gardens comprised the "Garden Tour," with Mrs. James P. Donahue's magnificent estate and gardens the first of the stops on the round of gardens. The natural gardens and swimming pool at the home of Miss Carolyn Tripp on Jungle Road were next on the itinerary, followed by Mrs. Claude K. Boettcher's jungle garden at "Southwood," her Via del Lago residence.

"El Cabana," the residence of Mrs. Joseph Frederick Gunster and the ocean front gardens of Mrs. Alfred G. Kay were the other lovely garden spots visited on this tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Boettcher were hosts recently at a dinner party honoring their house-guests Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Hill of New York. Dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, Col. and Mrs. Latham Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, Col. and Mrs. William Haywood, Mr. and Mrs. Balthasar Odescalchi, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mrs. J. Philip Benkard, Mr. Lytle Hull and Mr. John P. Wemple.

"Louwana," has been the background for a continuity of parties this season, with Mrs. James Norman Hill entertaining for a number of the social colony there, honoring her house-guests Mrs. James R. Deering and Mr. Francois Potter, Baron George Wrangel, Mr. Malcolm W. Bullivant, Mrs. J. Nevett Steele, and Mr. Thomas Prosser.

Joining the O'Brien house-party again this season is Mr. Marshall Hemingway, Mrs. O'Brien's son. Among the guests at Villa del Sarmiento this season have been Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Elsa Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron C. Foy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stirling Vanderbilt were dinner hosts at their Lantana residence recently. Music was furnished by the Aiken boys. Members of the Vanderbilt house-party who enjoyed the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Felton Cutting and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis.

One of the interesting house-parties in Palm Beach this season is that of Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, who have as their guests Miss Joan Leidy, daughter of Mrs. Wichfeld, Mr. Augustus O'Neill and Mr. Bert-ram O'Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCoskry Butt continue to entertain many luncheon and dinner parties. Mrs. Butt is sponsoring a girls' club, with young ladies of high school age meeting at her home on Clarke Avenue each week to join their hostess in co-operating with the many civic activities represented in the colony this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Butt entertained recently at dinner for several friends. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Tilton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oakes Sinclair, Mrs. McAlpin Bell, Mrs. Flynn Stewart, Mr. Goode Cabanne and Dr. Edmund LeRoy Dow.

A notable visitor to Palm Beach this season is Mr. Ignace Jan Paderewski, famous pianist, composer and statesman, who is now in his eighty-first year. He has leased the Stecher home on North Lake Way and expects to stay until Spring. Mr. Paderewski spends most of his time in America since the fall of his beloved Poland, which he twice served as President.

MRS. ROBERT McCOSKRY BUTT, of 300 Clarke Avenue in Palm Beach makes an intriguing picture against a lovely tropical background. Mrs. Butt is one of the most active of the social and civic workers in the colony.

LUXURIOUS FURS ARE THE PIECE de resistance of the formal evening mode in Palm Beach! Socialites may go shopping on Worth Avenue and to cocktails at the Alibi in slacks or sports clothes, of the most casual type, but come night, and they venture forth swathed in gorgeous furs!

The most popular fur at present in the Colony, is white fox, with ermine giving keen competition; next in popularity, are the sables, martens and silver fox.

Stoles, reminiscent of the gay nineties, are appearing in many and diverse versions, and fashioned of various kinds of rich furs. They give a smartly quaint accent to modern evening gowns of the bouffant styling.

Capes — all lengths from almost miniature affairs of shorter-than-waistline length; wrist-length; fingertip; seven-eighths; and the more dramatic floor-lengths! Capes in the 1941 resort style picture for evening wear, are fashioned of both the long-haired furs and those of sleek short furs, such as broadtail and ermine.

Short, loosely cut jackets are still in the style scene—new shoulder and pocket treatments, and sometimes unusual manipulation of the skins, give an interesting new look to these “informal-formal” coats.

Long fur coats, that is, fingertip and three-quarter lengths, are becoming more and more popular as the season advances; they do give a dashing air of elegance to either bouffant or slim evening gowns—especially those fashioned of long-haired furs, such as white, platina or paradise fox.

Mrs. Byron C. Foy was a striking figure at the Patio one evening, in a black bouffant-skirted gown with dramatic white scroll appliques; topped by a long white ermine cape-stole.

A smart mink capelet, waist-deep at back, over a slim black dress, lavishly trimmed with black sequins — worn by Mrs. Edward N. Townsend, Jr., to the Patio, the same evening.

One of the most eye-arresting ensembles of the season, was noted at the Colony Club on a recent gala evening! A sheer black with floating draperies—front panel of white on the skirt and white insets at front of bodice. Worn by Mrs. Nicolas Embiricos! Even while dancing, she wore a floor-length cape of the same lovely chiffon, which flaunted a hood that fell in wing-like draperies over her shoulders.

Mrs. Woolworth Donahue, also dancing at the Colony Club, and wearing a slim white crepe dress—given the appearance of two-piece styling by big gold embroidered pockets. A short white ermine swagger coat completed the chic white picture.

Cocktailing at the Alibi: Mrs. Harold Allen Braman, in a poudre blue spectator sports dress and short-sleeved white angora cardigan.

Mrs. Harrison Williams was also noted at the Alibi one recent afternoon, wearing a dashing vari-colored, wide-striped frock; the stripes running horizontally.

Dining at the Chambord—Mrs. Charles O. Parsons, in a soft medium blue crepe gown with long sleeves and fitted silhouette; an intricate beaded design lending distinction to the bodice.

Many strikingly lovely gowns, fur jackets and capes were worn to the Romany Concert at the Paramount Theatre! Noted in the audience were: Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, wearing a black gown topped with a white ermine cape, trimmed in tails and tips. Mrs. George Luke Mesker, also in black, and a long white fox cape. Mrs. H. Winfield Chapin, gowned in medium blue with a three-quarter length ermine cape. Mrs. Henry Ittleson, all in white—white dress and ermine coat. Mrs. Albert Sidney, wearing a bronzed-gold gown with white fox jacket. Mrs. Stuyvesant Pierrepont, very smart in light grey with red suede belt and sandals; sable jacket. Mrs. N. Marshall Seeburg, in a deep blue and gold lame' with matching Dutch cap! long jacket of sables.

Miss Ann Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. John T. H. Mitchell, was noted with a party of friends at the Jardin Royal, Whitehall, during the cocktail hour the other day. She was wearing a leaf green skirt and matching swagger felt hat, with felt sweater embroidered in red, white and blue miniature golfing figures.

Pink lace was the effective medium for a bouffant evening gown with halter neckline, worn by Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, to a Patio gala recently. Lace flower appliques trimmed both the brief bodice and skirt.

Noted at the Beach Club—Mrs. Frederic M. Sackett, in a smart black and white print, the pattern outlined in steel beads; slim bodice and full, flaring skirt.

A vivid tropical print, light designs against a dark background, in an unusually smart dress, worn by Mrs. Eric Loder, to the Everglades Club. A slim sarong-draped skirt and brief bodice, topped by a short bolero with long fitted sleeves.

One of the new and striking platina fox jackets (fingertip length), was chosen by Mrs. C. Henry Buhl, to wear to the Patio; over a smart black net flared and flowing evening gown.

There is nothing like a new hat to enliven a costume and pep up the spirits! This dramatic creation is made of white belting, trimmed with faille ribbon and two huge pearl pins. A snowflake veil extends from the back of the crown, almost to the waistline; finished with a wide chiffon border. A grand cocktail chapeau! The necklace is natural bamboo, combined with semi-precious stones. From the Mareta Feeley Shop.

AMONG THE MANY DELIGHTFUL EVENTS of the day at the Palm Beach Biltmore this season are the organ recitals in the cloistered formal gardens at tea hour from 4 to 5 and in the Terrace Lounge following dinner. There in the cool of the late afternoon may be heard the smooth, mellow tones of organ music as played by the Biltmore's genial and talented concert organist, Jimmy Beers of Atlanta, Ga. And again directly after the dinner hour, when diners come to the lounge for coffee and liqueurs Mr. Beers at his Hammond organ presents a program of request numbers in his own inimitable manner.

The quiet youthful Mr. Beers, who is a composer as well as an accomplished musician has had a successful career in the field of theatre and hotel concert work. While attending Georgia Tech, where he was a member of the football team, he interested himself in orchestra management and directing and made several trips abroad with his band. Following graduation he studied organ with Dick Liebert of the New York Music Hall and Jesse Crawford, Paramount's organist and has since filled engagements in many resorts including the Pan-coast in Miami.

Popular also with resorters is the "English Buffet Supper" series held each Sunday night in the Crystal Room followed by the Sunday Evening Concert by Paul Sparr and his orchestra.

The Cascades Lounge and Bar is a gathering place this week for members of the Artists' and Writers' Golf Association who are staying at the Biltmore and playing their 15th annual tournament at the Palm Beach Country Club. Dancing to the music of Paul Sparr and his orchestra continues until late hours and a gala program of entertainment is presented twice nightly by Myrus the mental marvel, Ruth Landi, colorful and gay singer of unusual songs, Michael Harmon, lyric baritone and the Arthur Murray dancers Jeanne Allen and George Montgomery.

Among those at the Biltmore for the Artists and Writers meeting are Mr. Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business and Mrs. Thorpe, Mr. Maurice Collette, advertising executive and Mrs. Collette, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dorne, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bundy, Mr. Frank Buck, adventurer and writer and Mrs. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. John Falter, Richard Vidmer, editor of "Down in Front" for the New York Herald Tribune and his guest William Robertson, Mr. Albert Pach, photographer and guest Mr. J. B. Baer, George Abbott, producer, John Golden, producer, Rube Goldberg, cartoonist; Arthur William Brown, illustrator and guest LeRoy Ward, James Powers and guest Richard Clark, F. Newlin Price, Richard L. Simon of Simon and Schuster Publishing Co., Floyd Davis, writer, Lou Wurzburg, James Montgomery Flagg, illustrator, Fred Bohlen, Raymond Bill, Walter Clett, Ray Schindler, writer and guest Joseph Bourgoine and Robert Stevens, Otto Soglow, cartoonist, Clair Maxwell, Ray Prohaska, C. D. Williams, Fred Neher and L. C. McElroy.

The annual winter meeting of the New York Athletic Club Anglers will be held at the Biltmore from March 7th to 14th, with some fifty or sixty members in attendance. Colonel Eugene McK Froment, New York and Fort Meyers, Fla., chairman of the group, has planned an extensive program of events including a golf tournament at the Palm Beach Country Club.

Mrs. Arthur C. O'Connor of Detroit entertained recently in the Crystal room at the Biltmore for her niece Miss Virginia Glenn, debutante daughter of Mrs. R. M. C. Glenn of New York who is passing the winter with Mrs. O'Connor at the resort. Among others having dinner parties there have been Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Sayre M. Ramsdell, and Mrs. Worcester Reed Warner.

Mid-season finds activity at the Palm Beach Hotel going on at an interesting pace, including games, bridge tournaments, quiz nights, Cruises, Marionette shows, and dinner dances with entertainment. On several occasions groups have attended the races at Hialeah. Mrs. William J. Doig of Caldwell, N. J., who is at the hotel with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Throckmorton, gave a dinner there recently for a group of her Palm Beach friends. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Le Mout were hosts at a dinner in celebration of her birthday. Flowers for the event were sent down from Mr. Le Mout's greenhouses at Larchmont. Following dinner they entertained about thirty for cocktails. Mrs. Beatrice Beckman gave a small dinner last week for her little son, Kenny Beckman on his birthday.

Recent arrivals at the Palm Beach include Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Bray of Bridgeport, Conn., with their children, Susan and David Bray; Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Leavitt, Elizabeth, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Halpin, Mr. and Mrs. Pearce M. Franklin and Miss Nina Chechila, Newark, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mulherin, Peabody, Mass., with Dr. and Mrs. William V. McDermott, Salem, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Miller, Kingston, N. Y.; John Ansbro and Miss Dolores Ansbro, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Nisbet and the Misses Loretta and Viola Murray, Brooklyn.

Brazilian Court is operating at capacity and many former guests have returned for mid-season visits. The patio with its beautiful tropical planting of shrubs, flowers and rare trees, and its effective lighting, has been the setting recently for many dinner and luncheon parties, and on cool days cocktail gatherings are popular in the pine-paneled bar where a large log fire blazes.

A gathering of summer colonists of Southampton, L. I., is of interest to many of this resort. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradley of Murray of Ilex House, and New York, arrived last week to remain through February, joining here their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Buckley M. Byers of New York and Sewickley, Pa., who are here on their wedding trip. They were accompanied by their daughters, the Misses Therese, Marcia, Joan and Judith Murray.

Also at the hotel are Mr. Murray's sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas E. Murray, Jr., of Southampton, and her daughter, Miss Marie Murray. His brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lester Cuddihy, are in the resort visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett at their Clarke Avenue home. Miss Eleanor Vandermade and her brother, James A. Vandermade, popular members of the younger set at Southampton, are at Brazilian Court for their annual visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Brokaw of the Chimneys, Oyster Bay, L. I., and their daughter, Miss Edna Brokaw, have returned for their annual season visit at the hotel. Their other daughter, Mrs. Charles Crocker, and Dr. Crocker, have a house in Palm Beach for the season. An arrival from Wynnewood, Pa., is Dr. Herschel Carey Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kenna are guests from New York.

Guests of The Breakers are enjoying a gay round of festivities and entertaining as the season nears its peak. Luncheon and dinner parties in the lovely circular dining room attract many members of the cottage as well as hotel colony, and each day brings more and more arrivals to the famous hotel for sojourns in the sunshine. One of the recent important events was the Annual Fashion Pageant and Tea given February 11 by Madame Najla Mogabgab in the Central Loggia. Over four hundred and fifty reservations were made for this gala occasion.

There are other activities at The Breakers for that colony's diversion which include weekly games in the Central Loggia as well as backgammon tournaments, and bridge parties under direction of Mrs. Suzanne Jordan. The Sunday evening concerts by Walter Miller's orchestra attract large gatherings of music lovers to the hotel.

Mrs. John L. Robertson was hostess at a dinner party in the circular dining room to Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Tevander and their house guests, also Mr. and Mrs. Ray Alan Van Clief, and members of the Robertson family who are sojourning here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Winfield Chapin of the Everglades Club dined with Mr. Andrew S. White at the hotel recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Falvey entertained at a dinner for five. Others giving dinners at The Breakers that evening included Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Hoff, Mrs. Henry Michell, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richman.

Mr. Carl King entertained a luncheon group at the hotel last week as did Miss M. A. Wiles.

Mr. Charles S. G. Means was a luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McSweeney. Others who have entertained guests at luncheon included Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Laidlaw, Mr. Joseph D. Bannon and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Giannini.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacNeill of The Breakers' Philadelphia colony, gave a dinner at the hotel recently. Their guests included Mrs. Charles H. Randle, Mrs. Guy Randle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Kolb and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herman and Mr. Mario di Tullio.

With Mr. Neil Twomey of Dorchester, Mass., are his sisters, the Misses Mary A., and Juliana A. Twomey and their cousin, M. J. Coffey, on their annual visit here.

Mrs. J. G. Oglesby of Atlanta, Ga., is here with Mrs. James Hickey for a short visit.

Arriving here for an annual sojourn were Mrs. Charles J. Clark of Philadelphia and her daughter, Miss Catherine Clark.

Arriving from Omaha, Neb., were Adolph C. Storz, Mrs. Adolph Storz, Miss D. E. Hayden and Hayden Storz, who will remain indefinitely.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McKinley Bryan of Greensboro, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. T. Austin Finch of Thomasville, N. C., are late arrivals.

From the New York area are George T. Sedlmayr of Great Neck; Mr. and Mrs. Radcliffe V. Jones of Bronxville; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Horne of Strawberry Hill, Stamford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Ketcham of New Rochelle, and Mr. and Mrs. Christopher W. Wilson of Brooklyn, Miss Ruth Harvey is here with Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harvey of Ridgewood, N. J.

A gay whirl of social activity is encompassing Whitehall visitors these sunny, happy days. A farewell party was given recently for Miss Edith Morgan Winant of Hollywood and Swarthmore, Pa., in the Jardin Royal. She is the niece of the new ambassador to Great Britain, John G. Winant. Miss Winant will visit her parents in Swarthmore for a week or two before returning to Hollywood where she is fashion expert for RKO-Selznick.

A newcomer to Palm Beach, Jacques Gerard, former head of the Standard Oil in France, who with Mrs. Gerard have taken a suite at Whitehall for the season, are being feted by the international contingent. Their son, Jacques Gerard, Jr., is at Harvard. They recently bought a permanent residence in Englewood, N. J.

Dr. and Mrs. David C. Morton of Windsor Farms, Va., arrived recently, with Mrs. Robert S. Preston of Richmond and Mrs. Margaret Parrett of Danville, Ill. Dr. and Mrs. Morton's home at Windsor Farms is one of the show places of Virginia. It was originally on a baronial estate in Sussex, England, and was taken down and brought to this country piece meal and rebuilt on their land.

With mid-season activity prevailing the charming Vineta Hotel, located in the center of the cottage colony and just a step from the famed Everglades club and the Worth Avenue shopping section, is the scene of cocktail, luncheon and dinner parties and delightful teas each Sunday afternoon with William Doherty's orchestra playing during dinner intervals each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evening.

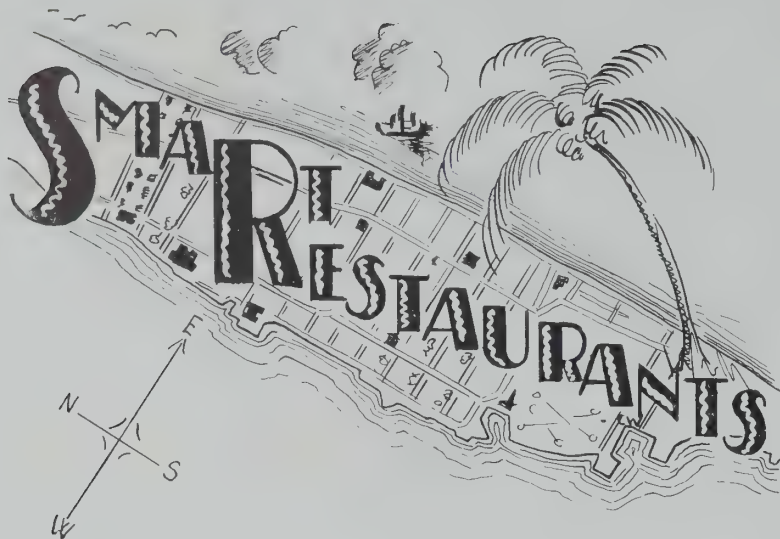

Mrs. Zenas Sears, of Boston, who is at the Vineta for the season entertained a group of friends for cocktails and dinner with bridge being enjoyed during the evening. Her guests included, Mrs. Mabel F. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. G. Horton Glover and Mr. C. Percival Dietsch.

Miss Gertrude Henschell had a luncheon party at the hotel for Mrs. A. R. Felton, and Mrs. W. Hardcastle of Jenkintown, Pa., and from the Pompano Beach winter colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Stradley and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Green of Philadelphia, who are guests at the hotel, spent the day at the races at Hialeah.

Mr. Ira S. Dunkle was host to an interesting dinner party, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mrs. Frederick Hattersley, Mrs. Frank O. Butler, Mrs. William Yeager, Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mrs. Blanche A. Clark, Mrs. James H. Kennedy, Mrs. Zenas Sears, Mrs. Mabel Blodgett, Dr. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mr. Joseph Love and Mr. Harry Radon.

Mr. Albert Cheseborough arrived at the Vineta for an extended stay accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Arthur S. Barker of Sands Point, L. I.

THE MAYERLING RESTAURANT in the Worth Avenue Arcade is rapidly gaining an enviable reputation in the resort. The distinctive cuisine combined with the impeccable service appeals to discriminating members of the winter colony. They find Mayerling considerate of their educated tastes.

The authentic Viennese menu at Mayerling includes a variety of delectable gulasches, one of which is featured every day at this charming bit of Imperial Vienna. There is also apfel strudl, wiener schnitzel, paprika Hendl and other famous Austrian dishes. The recipe for the paprika Hendl was given to Mayerling by Frau Sacher in Vienna.

The comprehensive wine list at Mayerling makes the appropriate selection of wine for every meal an easy matter. The delightful spritzer and the intriguing champagne sours are specialties at this restaurant.

Many dinner parties have enjoyed dining under the stars at Mayerling. Mrs. Ralph Beaver Strassburger and her son, Mr. J. A. Peter Strassburger, were dinner hosts recently to Mr. Woolworth Donahue and Mr. Clemente Ballin. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Waterman and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Waterman, were members of a dinner party.

Mrs. Ethel M. Broadwater was hostess to a dinner party at Mayerling which included Miss Natalie Campbell and Mr. A. N. Barter. Col. and Mrs. Wade Hampton Carpenter were a twosome. Mr. and Mrs. H. Winfield Chapin were at another table for two as were Mr. and Mrs. James Shevlin. Mr. Milton Holden was host to a party of six.

Mr. William deRham was a recent member of a dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vanderbilt were at a table for two. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Volk were at a luncheon table. Others dining at Mayerling recently were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Oster, Miss Frances Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craignyle and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Witmark, Jr.

Gala premier of the Beachcomber Breakfast took place at the Chambord Sunday, February 9, attracting one of the largest gatherings of the season to this noted restaurant which has long been a favorite spot of the smart winter colony for luncheons and dinner parties. The inauguration of the Beachcomber Breakfast which will be a feature each Sunday throughout the season, was highlighted by the introduction of the new fishing game "Switch," a positive fascinating diversion for indoor and outdoor Isaac Waltons as well as the appearance of other amusing games for the "playtime" period of the Beachcomber Breakfast. Sophisticated resorters lingered on and on after enjoying the superb buffet created by the new head chef, M. Lacouette, formerly chef at Sherry's, to participate in the various games, a novel variation in the usual Sunday routine. Ramon Littee's ensemble was on hand to provide incidental music as was Bernardi, brilliant character analyst.

A Garden Luncheon held at the Chambord Friday, St. Valentine's Day, featured a display of rare orchids, of great interest to many patrons who dined there on that occasion.

Mrs. Benjamin Rogers of "Thatchcote" was hostess at a dinner party at the Chambord one evening recently.

Her guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat, Col. and Mrs. Latham R. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brooks, Lady Patricia Latham, Mr. Leicester Spalding, Mr. Grover C. Loening and Mr. Harvey Ladew.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Gouled were hosts to a few friends. At another table were Dr. and Mrs. Pablo de Calatyud of Argentina.

Dr. and Mrs. Basil Beltran of Philadelphia were recent hosts to Mr. and Mrs. M. H. McCloskey, Jr., Miss Mary McCloskey and Miss Helene Edwards.

Al Jolson, motion picture, radio and stage star, was at dinner with Dr. D. L. Lubabin. Mr. and Mrs. R. Laurence Parish dined at the Chambord together.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Vere Smith were hosts at dinner one night to Miss Gloria Smith and Mr. John Powers. Mr. A. L. Brown was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jenkins and Mr. F. H. Small dined with Dr. George Marvel. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Both dined there Saturday evening as did Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reid. Mr. John Wemple was with Mr. Henry A. Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude K. Boettcher entertained Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Hill at luncheon there.

In another party were Mrs. Henry K. Harding, Mrs. Raymond Guest, and Miss Susan B. Stewart. The Misses Patricia and Priscilla Phelan were with a group of friends at luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ford Bell were among luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Maurice Carr at the Chambord. In a twosome were Mr. Donald Pearson and Mr. Robert Gabriel.

Mrs. Diana Guest entertained at a small dinner party at the Chambord last week. Mr. Generoso Pope's party included Mr. Fortune Pope, Mr. Dino de Medio, and Mr. Barry Winton.

Mid-Season Polo

POLO FANS OF PALM BEACH and neighboring environs have been witnessing some of the finest high goal polo to be seen anywhere in the country, this season at the famed Phipps fields of the Delray Polo club.

Under the management of Fred Tejan, known to horsemen everywhere, spirited polo matches are being held each Wednesday, Friday and Sunday afternoon with large crowds in attendance.

The Delray Polo club offers one of the most complete units for the enjoyment of the sport to be found anywhere with two complete fields known as the North and South fields and several smaller practice fields.

Several hundred polo ponies are quarantined at the spacious stables of the Delray Polo clubs each season numbering among them famous strings of equally famed players.

Plans are being completed for a benefit polo game February 22 at the Delray Polo Field, for the Delray Bundles for Britain, with space for 200 cars being reserved, the remainder of the car space being unreserved.

In a whirlwind demonstration of superb horsemanship, Gerald Dempsey, well known polo player yesterday registered the winning score in the last minutes of play to bring victory to the Gulfstream polo four over the Hurricanes by the score of 7 to 6 at Delray Polo club in a recent thrilling contest.

Stephen "Laddy" Sanford, one of the original Hurricane players tied the score in the final chukker with a long drive from near the center of the field, but Dempsey's tally a few minutes later gave his team the victory.

Michael Phipps, eight goal star and Dempsey shared honors for high goal on the Gulfstream team, each making three scores.

A scoring duel which found Gulfstream's early lead overtaken by Hunting Valley in the final chukker to give the latter team a win by a one goal margin thrilled the polo fans at the Delray Polo club.

The largest crowd of the season, enjoying perfect Florida weather, saw Stephen "Laddie" Sanford, internationally known polo player tally four goals for the Hunting Valley outfit, two of which were made in the final period, to win the match.

Gerald Dempsey, hard riding malleteer, scored three for the same side also knocking a long one between the uprights in the sixth to contribute his share to the last minute rally, and victory. Pedro Silvero scored two in the first for Gulfstream and R. S. Evans one in a last minute effort to stave off defeat.

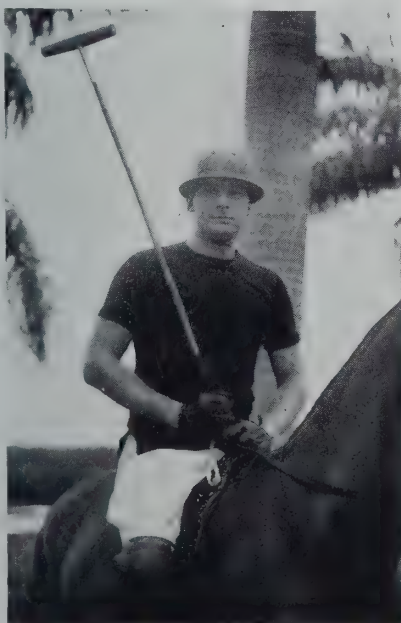

Gulfstream gained revenge yesterday for its defeat Sunday by turning the tables on the Hunting Valley Polo quartet, to win 7 to 5 in a thrilling match at the Delray Polo Club before a large gallery, tallying two goals in the last period.

WITH THE SEASON NOW IN FULL swing, the renowned and fashionable Colony Club is revelling in a popularity that is justifiably deserved. Recognized as one of the most beautiful clubs in the Palm Beaches, it also has a wonderful reputation for its marvelous French cuisine, excellent service, and stellar entertainment. Celebrities from the world of society, stage, screen and radio are to be seen there frequently.

One of the largest cocktail parties in the resort this season was held in the Colony Club's famous "Passy Room" by Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Reeves, well known members of the winter colony, prior to their departure for California. Mr. Reeves took over the entire club for the occasion, with Fernando Caney and his famous native rhumba orchestra furnishing the music and the entertainment supplied by "Capo and Riela", vocalists and native rhumba dancers.

Noted entertaining at the Colony Club recently were:

As the season continues on its way, one hears the name of the Dixie Inn and its marvelous food, mentioned with recurring frequency. Situated on the North Dixie Highway, but a few minutes pleasant drive from Palm Beach, it is a truly delightful spot to visit, and the delicious dinners served there are a source of keen delight to lovers of good and tasty food.

Established for eight years it is under the strict and personal supervision of Mr. Jimmy North, the genial proprietor, who aims at a high standard of perfection for the enjoyment and comfort of his guests. Fashioned after an old English Tavern with paneled walls and hand hewn beamed ceilings, it is the embodiment of good taste, charm and dignity. Worthy of mention is the well stocked bar of rare imported wines and liquors. Excellent and melodious dance music is furnished by Jimmy Stipek and his band.

Observed there recently entertaining and dining were: Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Allyn of Whitehall who were hosts to a party of ten. Mr. Charles Alexander, Mr. Warren K. Harding, Mr. James Donahue. Mrs. Joseph F. Moran with a party of four. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mrs. Harold B. Narmore, Mrs. George Petinot, Mr. Thorne Donnelley, Mr. Edmund L. Goodman. Mr. Jake Webb was noted with a party of the younger set.

Glazer, Mrs. N. B. Spingold, Judge Stockton Bryan and many more.

VAL ERNIE, Palm Beach's favorite maestro, who, with his society orchestra appears daily during the luncheon interval and nightly the dinner and supper periods, at the world-famous Patio, offering a group of accomplished musicians without peer in the musical world.

JUST A HINT OF THE PICTURESQUE beauty of appointments that are to be found at Palm Beach's newest smart gathering spot, the South Ocean Club, is discerned in these views. Everything from the background for the care-free, informal Cocktail and Luncheon Party to smart, suave settings for formal gatherings, is apparent in the beautifully conceived rooms and terraces.

The entrance to the South Ocean Club is a gracious invitation to a series of pleasant views. Artistic landscaping and a continuity of absorbing views from every angle are apparent in the beautiful structure, which is built in West Indian Colonial style, with white stucco and contrasting tile roof. The white of cool stucco walls is relieved by colorful awnings and interesting bit of tropical landscaping.

Once within the entrance doors of the club, one ascends a short stairway into a beautifully modernistic setting that combines graceful symmetry with an engaging vista of the Cocktail Lounge to the right. Wood panelling is used effectively in the entrance lounge with a lovely sea-scape by Waugh, the dominant decorative theme.

The club's informal cocktail lounge furnishes a superb view of the sea and is a gem of compact efficiency, with its horse-shoe bar and pleasantly spaced chairs and tables. This room is refreshingly decorated in yellow, brown and chartreuse colors, with cypress and mirrored panels. Fresh cut flowers lend their fragrance and color to this setting of care-free informality.

Of decorative interest in the Cocktail Lounge is an impressive mural on glass, which has a savage splendor and the distinctive touch of the master technician. Titled "The Head-Hunters," this unusual mural on glass was painted by R. Bushnell Hyman, well known to the Palm Beach colony, as an artist of merit.

Adding to the charm of the Cocktail Lounge are a clever assortment of porcelain birds in various colorful designs and the Chinese etchings of Casey Roberts. "China Lady in Distress" and "China Man-No Help" are excellent examples of Mr. Robert's artistry and strike the perfect balance in this breezily casual room, which has been the background for a continuity of attractive cocktail parties this season.

To many of the members and guests of the South Ocean Club, the beautiful Dining-Room, with its incomparable duo-vista of the turbulent waters of the Atlantic Ocean and the comparatively calm surface of Lake Worth, is the loveliest room in the club. It would be easy to imagine oneself dining aboard one of the world's famous luxury liners, while seated in this beautifully decorated room. Strikingly lovely aqua-colored draperies are used effectively in the dining-room to frame the many openings, which form almost a solid wall of glass and give an incomparable view. Modernity is the decorative keynote in this attractive room and this keynote is carried out in chairs, tables and other appointments. A feature of the Dining-room and the Cocktail Room is the beautifully grained Teakwood floor, with a soft lustre and rich sepia tone that make it uniquely appropriate in these settings of sun-dappled light and color. This floor is by way of being a rarity, being perhaps the only example of Teakwood flooring in the state, according to John Volk, architect for the South Ocean Ocean Club, and Warner and Prather, the contractors who erected it.

A partially raised-dais occupies a commanding position in the Dining-Room, with Don Ferrara's Latin-American orchestra, using this indoor dais when the weather makes dining and dancing under the stars impossible. Many of the resort colony have found that dancing to Don Ferrara's rhythmic rhumba, conga and the colorful samba tunes is the ideal accompaniment to entertaining at luncheon and dinner at the South Ocean Club.

From the lovely Dining-Room to the outdoor dance floor of the West Terrace is but a pleasant step for the visitor to this unique club. Here one may dine and dance to superlative music, under the stars, with the soft breezes of the trade-winds and the murmur of the sea adding to the charm of the scene. The smart set have found the West Terrace, with its colorful beach umbrellas sheltering daytime parties from the rays of the sun, an attractive spot for afternoon cocktail and luncheon gatherings. A charcoal grill lends color to the terrace and gives promise of succulently broiled chickens, steaks and chops.

On the opposite side of the Dining-Room is the Luncheon Loggia beautifully finished in royal blue. Flooring in this engaging shade and tables and chairs marked by their smart decor and comfort make this the resorter's dream of a background for chatting over cocktails and luncheon or whiling away the hours at backgammon. From the Luncheon Loggia one has an uninterrupted view of the frothy white breakers of the sea and the tropical jungle growth which screens the club from passing traffic.

For the nautically minded, the lower floor of the club-house has a swank Nautical Room, with a picturesque ship's-bar, finished in navy colors and pleasantly dotted with comfortable chairs. All the maritime color of a harbour-front gathering spot is apparent in this colorful room, with ship's lanterns, rope and other after-deck accessories, lending their aid to the illusion.

Downstairs also are many comfortable lockers, where the members and guests of the club may divest themselves of formal wear and don beach and swimming clothes for a dip in the surf or a browse on the beach.

Built within the sound and sight of the surf, the South Shore Club is only a few steps away from the chalk-white beach, which has been pleasantly landscaped at this point. Portable Dugout Cabanas dot the beach along the waterfront which comprise some seven hundred feet of private beach.

Many of the members and their guests have made it a habit to drop in at the club for a dip in the surf and a bit of sun-bathing, followed by one of the club's delicious luncheons and expertly blended cocktails.

Mr. Jack Mitchell, managing director of the South Ocean Club, has inaugurated a membership system that has found favor with his extensive list of members and their guests. Anyone desiring to obtain a guest card from the management has only to contact one of his friends, who is a member, with a subsequent telephone call making it possible for them to drop in with a party for anything from dinner to a dip in the sea.

Assisting Mr. Mitchell at the South Ocean Club is Mr. Bud Penna, popular resort figure from Asbury Park in New Jersey.

Miami

MUCH HOLLYWOOD GLAMOUR AND EXCITEMENT descended upon the Miami Biltmore at Coral Gables last week upon the occasion of the visit of Miss Deanna Durbin, noted singing film star. Miss Durbin attended the world premiere of Fannie Hurst's "Back Street" at a Miami Beach theatre, and was the guest of Milton M. Chapman, managing director of the Biltmore, during her visit.

The day of Miss Durbin's arrival, Mr. Chapman was host at a large cocktail party held in her honor in the Grand Lounge. Newspaper columnists and movie critics from throughout the nation, in the number of more than 150, attended the affair. Miss Durbin proved herself a gracious guest and appeared to enjoy the party immensely.

Following the premiere, Mr. Chapman was host at a unique Typewriter Frolics in the main ballroom of the Miami Biltmore Country Club at which Miss Durbin was again the guest of honor. The party started at midnight and lasted until the small hours of the morning. Francis Lederer, also a film star, was among the guests.

The Giralda Room continues to be the center of social activity at the Biltmore with nightly dinner parties especially popular. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Inglis of Great Neck, L. I.; and Miami Beach, were hosts recently to Mr. and Mrs.

S. E. Canady and William Rodney McLennan of New York.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carter of Detroit were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burton and Mrs. Myrtle Stewart of Belvidere, Ill. Miss Evelyne Stringer and Mrs. Ira S. Browning of Atlanta and Lloyd Stratton and Mrs. Mary Marks of New York City were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton M. Chapman.

At another party were Mrs. C. C. Lincoln of Marion, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Miller, Harry Whyel, Mrs. Ellen Whyel Carroll, Mrs. D. W. MacDonald, Jr., and Mrs. S. W. Metzler of Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. C. E. Squires of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Maurer of Niles, Mich.; Mrs. Frank Howard of Bedford, Ind.; Miss Rosamond Berry of Lynchburg, Va.; and Lewis E. McKay of Grove City, Pa.

Guests of Colles J. Coe were Miss Kay Ahern of Baltimore, John Arrowsmith of New York and Miss Martha Shaw and Manley Inscho of Miami.

The semi-weekly bridge-luncheons are also creating considerable interest. Mrs. Walter E. Barnes was hostess to a trio from Chicago recently that included Mrs. Walter H. Dreis, Mrs. George F. Barrett and Mrs. George Madden. Guests of Mrs. Edward R. Treat of Indianapolis were Baroness Wodehouse Fox of London, Miss., Rosamond Berry of Lynchburg, Va.; and Mrs. M. V. Wiggins of Indianapolis.

Mrs. H. H. Cleveland had a large party that included Mrs. Nelson H. Green, Mrs. Daniel H. Redfearn and Mrs. Frank Cady of Coral Gables; Mrs. W. A. Feltyburger of Pittsburgh, Mrs. E. R. Edkins of Winnetka, Ill.; Mrs. Thomas A. Harmon of Atlanta, Mrs. A. A. Fix of Miami, Mrs. William West of Genesee, Ill.; Mrs. C. C. Cameron of Chicago and Mrs. Henry Paridon of Rock Island, Ill.

At Mrs. William Guy Parsons' table were Mrs. R. J. Briggs of Oneonta, N. Y.; Mrs. G. R. Sintz of Chicago, Mrs. W. E. Brookings of Yonkers, N. Y.; Mrs. J. E. Ogden of New York City, Mrs. Windsor C. Nickerson of Winchester, Mass.; Miss Susan M. Sutton and Miss Margaret W. Sutton of Asbury Park, N. J.; Mrs. Harvey D. Burrill of Syracuse, Mrs. Leonard Willets Ely of Buffalo, Mrs. B. M. Brevett of New York and Mrs. Orville Edson Johnson of Boston.

Recent guests at the hotel were Miss Jeanette MacDonald of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Shock of New Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Raymond and their daughter, Louise, of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Tobin of La Grangeville, N. Y.; and Mrs. N. R. Pond and Mrs. Marion Harcum of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., stopped over when he came to Miami to speak before the Committee to Defend America. With him were Mrs. Fairbanks, Capt. Alastair Mackintosh and Ted Reber, all of whom came down from Palm Beach with him.

Old World Charm in Nassau

ANYONE WHO HAS BROWSED THROUGH the miles of dreamy old lanes with their giant shade trees and centuries old buildings in the hinterlands of Nassau and then turned to the modern settings of this historic old isle for a round of golf or entertaining at cocktails in a setting as modern as this morning's newspaper finds a charm in this jewel of the Bahamas that is unequaled in any other part of the world.

Just a short two hours flight by Pan-American plane from the mainland of Florida, Nassau offers a sylvan retreat from the workaday world, adventure in the form of sight-seeing and exporing trips to outer islands, that fairly breathe romance and mystery; and to the socially minded, swank clubs, gleamingly modern hotels and all of the settings found in the world's leading resorts.

Just a short sail away from the mainland of Nassau, beautiful Rose Island offers the ideal picnic site. Anchored offshore of this beautiful tropical isle with its miles of chalk-white shore line and gorgeous tropical foliage, the hardy group oftentimes swim ashore for an exploratory trip of the island while the boat attendants prepare the picnic luncheon for the party.

Cruising about offshore of Rose Island and Sandy Key, a short distance away, glass bottom buckets are trailed alongside small ship's boats for the sun-bronzed vacationists to peer through and examine the fantastic beauties of marine gardens. Thousands of types of marine life dart in and out of coral caverns many fathoms below, with their silvery bodies drawing phosphorescent paths through the vari-colored water.

The transluscent quality of the waters around the Bahamas is so pronounced that sailing schooners and luxurious yachts seem actually suspended between sky and sea, with their hulls visible to the minutest detail. Even from the heights of a cruising plane one can observe giant sea monsters and submerged wrecks on the bottom of the ocean, so clear is the water around the Bahamas.

Fishermen find this the angler's paradise, with an unequalled opportunity to watch their game from the moment he sights the bait until the final moment when he is landed aboard their boats.

Swimming under the surface of the water around the world famous underwater gardens off Rose Island is another aesthetic treat, with the intrepid swimmer rewarded with a series of unexpected vistas and sometimes an amusing encounter with some startled and beautifully colored denizen of the coral caverns.

Miss Brenda Diana Duff Frazier, America's number one glamour girl, inaugurated something new in afternoon parties recently by entertaining many fathoms down in the famous Photosphere for a number of friends. While cruising about on the floor of the sea the party enjoyed an incomparable view of giant under-sea monsters in their natural element and the enchanted forests of the coral caverns.

Among her guests were Miss Marian Oates, Mr. Howland Spencer, Mr. Frazier Jelke, Mr. John F. McCarthy, Mrs. Mary Lansing Arno, Mrs. Frederick Wattress and Lady Jane Williams Taylor.

His Royal Highness, the Duke of Windsor, and his lovely Duchess are among the enthusiasts for these fascinating trips to the islands and are often to be found in flying parties to various of the more distant outer islands. The Duke is still vitally interested in the problems of the less fortunate members of the community he is now governing.

Flying trips to Abaco, Governor's Island, Eleuthera, Harbour Island, Spanish Wells and other of the outer islands in the Bahamas are numbered among the most thrilling experiences of many of Nassau's visiting notables.

Perhaps the most fascinating of the goals for the intrepid explorers in the Nassau Colony is mysterious Andros Island, which has never been entirely explored. Flying over this tangle of jungle and partially hidden rivers and streams is a never-ending surprise, with every mile disclosing something new and strange in animal and plant life.

Many of the islands of the Bahamas present a picture of baronial life that is the ideal for millions of romance loving citizens of the earth. Island colonies such as those of Elizabeth "Betty" Carstairs, famous woman speed-boat driver and daughter of the multimillionaire English ship builder, George Murphy's farms on Eleuthera, Jack McCarthy's salt islands, Count and Countess de Marigny's island estates, Howland Spencer's famous island hide-aways and countless other island dweller's paradises dot the transluscent waters of the Bahamas.

Many of the expeditions for the outer islands have their inception at the docks of the Fort Montagu Beach Hotel, with Newell Kelly, renowned head of Montagu Beach, planning a series of fascinating boat and plane trips for his visitors from two continents.

MISS ANN COULSON, of 120 East End Avenue, New York, one of this year's debutantes, alights from the Pan-American clipper at Nassau to visit her mother Mrs. Robert E. Coulson. Many of the smart set have found that Nassau is as convenient from Florida as the beach-club around the corner, with the Pan-American's two hour trip only a pleasant interlude.

The Heyward-Washington House

THE Heyward-Washington House in Charleston, South Carolina, is an Historic House Museum; a period house devoted to the presentation of furniture and furnishings in the original setting.

The colonial mansion located on Church Street in the heart of Old Charleston, was the home of Thomas Heyward, Jr., a Signer of the Declaration of Independence for South Carolina, and it was here that Washington was entertained during the week he spent in Charleston in 1791. Hence the name. The exact date of the building is not known, but it is definitely sometime between 1740 and 1749.

About forty years after it was built the house was made famous by George Washington on his visit to the city. The building is interesting in itself, but the fact of the President's sojourn there had much to do with its preservation. Washington, though he had foresight, could not have known how valuable his tours of America would be to future generations. For where he laid his head or quaffed his ale there the mark is put above the door and another house is saved. It was his custom when travelling about the country to refuse private entertainment if public lodging could be obtained. He considered this the proper course for the official of a Democracy, and he followed his rule in Charleston as an entry in his diary shows:

"Monday, May 2nd, (1791)

The Lodgings provided for me in this place were very good, being furnished the house of a gentleman at present in the country, but being occupied by a person placed on purpose to accommodate me, and who has been paid the same as any other letter of lodgings would have been."

The City Fathers rented the house from Mr. Heyward, and it was beautifully furnished by loans from the citizenry. The house has recently been restored to its original state, and is furnished throughout with antiques that might readily have been there during the visit of the President. Here you have a furnished house full of many handsome pieces made locally; a home typical of colonial life in Charleston, when the city was foremost as a center of wealth, of society, and of culture. It is the purpose of the Charleston Museum to present it as it would have been at the time of Washington's visit. This sets 1791 as the latest, or limiting date for furniture, and permits much handsome Chippendale and Hepplewhite to be used, as well as some early Sheraton. Practically speaking from the connoisseur's point of view it is a perfect period, for the last half of the eighteenth century is a veritable paradise of fine furniture, and in choosing 1791, one can run the gamut of the century.

It must be remembered that people are continually acquiring possessions. While it is perfectly true that Chippendale and Hepplewhite made sets of furniture of a definite period, the acquisition of one of these sets was not accompanied by the general cleaning out of all previously acquired furniture; some and usually the handsomest was saved. Therefore it is permissible to go quite far back for many pieces. Presumably when Charleston polished up its finest furniture and silver and sent it around for the better entertainment of the President, it was not all new. Some was cherished family possessions of long standing. Thus in the house today are the pre-revolutionary pieces, and 1791 is only the date beyond which it is inaccurate to go.

In the furnishings as well as in the furniture the Museum strives for accuracy. As the house is generally of the so-called Chippendale period it was thought wise to make the curtains with his styles in view, rather than have curtains designed by Hepplewhite, though he was more in vogue after the Revolution. Curtaining an historic house is a problem. It is difficult and often impossible to procure old draperies; they fade, stain, and often fall into dust. In bedrooms where simpler draperies were used copies of old chintz make excellent substitutes for the original. In one Heyward House bedroom chintz shows to great advantage. But in the more elaborate Drawing room it was necessary to have curtains as handsome as the room itself. For several years the windows were left bare rather than have cheap substitutes. But finally this year for the first time beautiful red damask curtains will hang at the windows. The Scalmandre Silk Company of New York very generously gave the material. After much research in selecting the textile and color from old samples, Scalmandre, in cooperation with the Charleston Museum, had the goods woven according to specifications and then especially dyed. So that, though a product of the Twentieth Century, the material accurately duplicates the textiles that would have been used in the last half of the Eighteenth Century. The Museum then studied many original sketches before deciding on a pattern, and finally two sketches from Chippendale's Guide were selected.

All of the elegance of Colonial days is evidenced in this beautiful reception room for the historic Heyward-Washington House in Charleston, South Carolina.

In this fashion the correct effect for this particular room has been achieved. The material is being made up by Chisolm & Chisolm, Interior Decorators of Charleston, with the greatest attention to detail, so that in every respect it will be an accurate job, authenticated by documentary evidence.

With this slight discussion of the furniture and furnishings, a general idea of the approach to the task of opening a house to the public is given, rather than an impression of the house itself. But of course to the stranger within its gates the Heyward-Washington House presents an entirely different picture. Thomas Heyward was one of the outstanding men of his time. He was educated for the law in England, and became a rice planter of great wealth, owning over a thousand slaves. His home is therefore that of one of the leading gentlemen of the country during Colonial days. It is a square house deceptively simple from the street, the only decorative feature of the exterior being the handsome Georgian doorway. The interior is panelled throughout in Cypress and Mahogany. One enters into a central hall which runs straight through the house, opening into an old-fashioned walled garden. In this garden no flowers or shrubs are planted that were not known to have been in this country before 1791. The view from front door to garden brings to mind the phrase used by decorators today, "Bring the Garden into the House;" this was obviously practiced by designers in the middle of the Eighteenth Century. Behind the house are the kitchen and wash-kitchen, the slave-quarters and the carriage house. The kitchen has been restored and is now complete with pots and cranes, with sausage presser and hand pump.

On the right of the entrance hall is the reception room. A crackling wood fire on the hearth and fresh flowers on the table lend a realistic touch. Several beautiful pieces of furniture here are but suggestions of the rest of the house. The dining room is on the left of the hall, looking out over the garden.

On the second floor is the drawing room. Here Washington received a delegation of the ladies of Charleston and said he was much impressed by their beauty and charm. It is considered the handsomest room in the house. The cornice is of Chippendale fretwork, the carved mantle and overmantle are decorated with rosettes, and in the overmantle is worked a border of mahogany, recently discovered under many coats of paint. The broken pediments over the doorways, the deep-set windows, the wide floor boards, all speak of the Craftmanship of Colonial days.

To the north of the drawing room on the front is the withdrawing room, furnished as a bedroom for Washington. Behind this are two other rooms. This is the house, four rooms to a floor, furnished of its period. It is however incomplete without the yard, garden, and outbuildings; with these it is open to the public, a compact little plant of eighteenth century life.

Today the house stands a quiet restrained monument to a turbulent past. It serves as a branch Museum, being a faithful representation of the Colonial period, and as such an illustration from the past of Charleston.

One of the picturesque old rooms of the Heyward-Washington House in historic old Charleston, South Carolina. The visitor to this famous old house finds a period-house, devoted to the presentation of the furniture and settings of the days when Thomas Heyward, Jr., occupied it.

The Society of the Four Arts

WIDER RECOGNITION AND DEEPER appreciation of the excellent work in art being done throughout the United States by her native sons and daughters was the motive prompting one of the most comprehensive shows ever put on in Palm Beach, the Contemporary American Art Exhibit, which opened at the Society of the Four Arts February 15. Mrs. Benjamin Rogers is chairman of the committee for the exhibit while Mrs. LeRay Berdeau, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, and Mrs. Paul Moore are co-chairmen, Mrs. Johnson also being Art Chairman of the Society.

Throughout the summer these art lovers and other members of their committees visited various museums and art exhibitions to obtain for this show a representative group of paintings, each selected for an outstanding characteristic which conveyed the true spirit of the American Artist. A cross-section of the work of painters from various parts of the country the Contemporary American Art Exhibit includes many modern methods and technique—gaiety, realism, old-fashioned classic style in modern moods, cubism, surrealism, abstracts and other forms of expressive individualism of the American artist.

Not only has the exhibit won the admiration of hundreds of visitors because of its beauty and scope but also has been acclaimed by critics because of the timeliness of American people at last aware of its own schools of painting. Skill, understanding and inspired technique are all reflected in the outstanding work now put before the public through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Rogers and her committees in promoting a patriotic responsibility for our own artists.

"TRAWLERS" is the title given this masterful canvas by artist Jon Corbino which is now on exhibition in the Contemporary American Art Exhibit at the Four Arts Society, loaned by William Macbeth, Inc.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Charles Crocker, Mrs. Ritchey Farrell, Mrs. Paulding Fosdick, Mrs. Arthur Glasgow, Mrs. John F. Gibbons, Mrs. Diana Guest, Mrs. Albert Herter, Mrs. Henry Ittleson, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien, Mrs. Stephen Sanford, Mrs. Andrew Van Pelt, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, Mrs. Robert Young, Lady Patricia Latham. Also Mr. Jules Bache, Mr. Blythe Branch, Mr. Hugh Dillman, Dr. Edmund Leroy Dow, Mr. Maurice Fatio, Mr. Channing Hare, Mr. Albert Herter, Mr. Murray Hoffman, Col. Francis L. V. Hoppin, Mr. Harvey Ladew, Dr. Daniel J. McCarthy, Mr. Alexander Phillips, Mr. Michael Phipps, and Mr. Marion Sims Wyeth. There is also a Junior Committee which has assisted greatly in the promotion of the Exhibit.

Much national recognition has been received by the show which consists of ninety-five paintings, including several watercolors. Clifford Beal has a lovely marine on view "By the Sea" and there is a Flower Still life by Dick deMenocal. Rockwell Kent, well-known American artist, is represented by "Spring Thaw" and James Guy's "Dead End" is an unusual modern work. Henry Mattson's "The Wave," Frank Jo Raymond's "More Snow," Daniel Serra's "Cuban Sunset" and Edmund Yaghjian's "Skaters in the Park" are only a very few of the fine collection assembled by Mrs. Rogers and her committee.

In the water color group are such works as John Steuart Curry's "Love Like a Bird" and Edgar Bohiman's "Fishwives of Lisbon."

Representative of the work of Luigi Lucioni is "Contemporary Conversation", an imaginative still life study which is also on view in the current exhibition of Contemporary American Art, loaned by Walker Galleries.

Miami Beach

THERE HAVE BEEN SO MANY exciting things going on in Miami Beach these past few days to make these glorious days of February one gay, mad whirl! In the first place, everyone was so thrilled with Deanna Durbin, the lovely Universal motion picture star, who came here for the world premiere of the picture, "Back Street."

Then to make things increasingly exciting more than one hundred and fifty newspaper men and movie critics from one coast to the other were in Miami Beach to write about the beauties of the place. Jimmie Fiddler and his lovely wife were among them. They stayed at the Roney Plaza as did Louis Sobol, the famous columnist and his wife, and spent much of their time in and around the Cabana Club.

Last Sunday everybody in the resort colony, it seemed, turned out for the fashion show in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza, where the Celanese Corporation of America presented the most glamorous fashion show of the season. A score of beautiful models paraded in resort fashions for every hour of the day from early morning until late at night. There were many hints of what will be smart in the North this spring and summer.

Many members of the colony gave parties in the palm gardens for the occasion. Among them were Dr. and Mrs. James E. West of New Rochelle, N. Y., who entertained for their daughters, the Misses Helen and Marion West.

Miss Marion West only recently joined her parents and sister at the Roney Plaza, the others having been here for several weeks.

Among other hosts were Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard Hodge of New York; Mrs. R. B. Chandler, Mrs. J. W. Hellman, Mrs. Henry S. Glazier, Carl E. Troy and Miss Sarah Jane Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Deans of New York; the Misses Helen and Ruth Donnally of Yonkers; Miss Margaret Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Adams, Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. James Reis, Cincinnati; Miss Gay Gaylen, Miss Janet Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Marshall.

One of the loveliest visitors of the week was Miss Constance Moore, the Paramount Pictures star. She was at the Roney Plaza with her husband, John Marchio. The Marchios spent several days in Havana, then returned to the Roney Plaza to continue their southern vacation.

The Viennese room took on a gala atmosphere Saint Valentine's day, when the fifteenth anniversary of the hotel was celebrated with a number of gay parties. A feature of the occasion was the cutting of the "birthday cake" by Edward B. Jouffret, who has been managing director of the hotel for eight seasons. Emery Deutsch, violin maestro, who leads the orchestra at the Roney Plaza this year, played a group of numbers that was popular when the hotel first opened. Actually the anniversary of the hotel is on the thirteenth of the month, but because of the Valentine holiday on the fourteenth the occasions were combined.

Because of some conflicting dates, the Second Annual Roney Plaza Invitational Tennis tournament, which was to be played the week of February 24, has been postponed indefinitely.

The season here is expected to be especially gay because of the late Easter date. Easter this year does not fall until April 13, with Ash Wednesday coming on February 26. There will be little curtailment of gayety because of the Lenten season until late this month.

A luncheon party for the younger set in the Cafe de la Paix of the Roney Plaza recently included the Misses Mary Frances and Patricia Wilson, Miss Margaret Ann Casper, Miss Brenda Louise Mason and Mrs. J. Edwin Wilson, who was hostess for the occasion.

Mrs. G. Howard Hodge also was honor guest at a luncheon this week.

The resort colony is looking forward to Widener day at Hialeah race track, for there are comparatively few days left until the close of the season there. However, Tropical park will reopen immediately and the events are expected to continue along their merry way.

Safety .. First .. Last .. and Always

Your Water Company looks first, last and always to the safety of the community.

The water it serves you is safe and pure every minute of the day, and every day of the year. A modern, completely equipped Laboratory is maintained expressly for the purpose of guaranteeing you that your water is the best served anywhere. Your water is tested daily by all tests known that assure safety. By this you can see that no stone is left unturned, no opportunity is passed, and no safeguard is neglected, to give you a water that is safe and pure.

Be Safe—

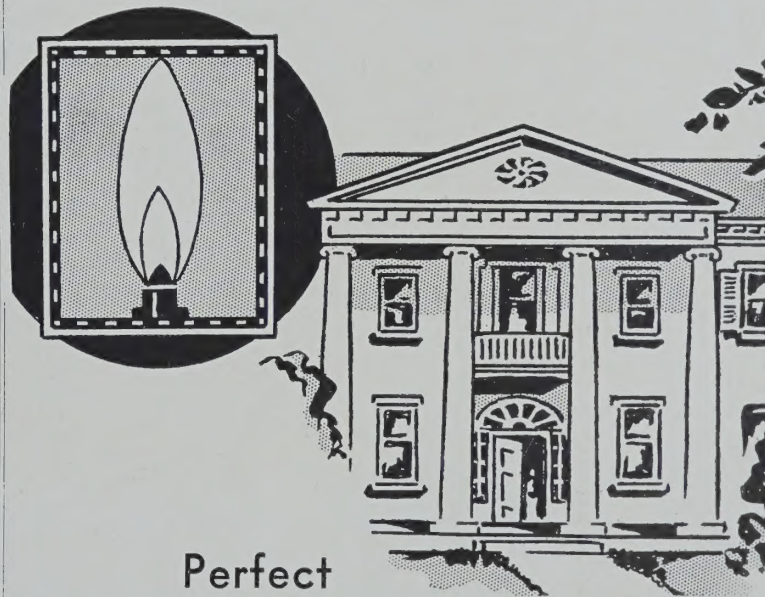

Use a water you know is safe.

The Sun never sets on

It gives you a deep sense of satisfaction when you order a drink "made with Gilbey's Gin" to realize that at the very same minute other men who know fine liquors are sitting at far-away windows with that same familiar Gilbey's bottle beside them. For nearly a century now, the sun has never set on Gilbey's Gin . . . because millions of men have found, as you will, too, that Gilbey's makes a great drink greater!
